Description of the topic:

The German-Polish collaboration in Complex Analysis has already a fruitful long-standing tradition. In the meantime this collaboration has been extended also to many other countries (which may be reflected by the list of proposed speakers).

The symposium should give a survey of the current stay of developments in this field with special stress on the following streams of interest: $\bar{\partial}$-problem, complex spaces, disc methods, pluripotential theory, holomorphic extension, function theory on special domains, holomorphically invariant objects.
